

YEET FFL Guidelines

This is a brief guideline of how the league could be operated. With Connor Viland as Commissioner of the league, it is on him to enforce the guidelines, rules, propositions, payments, and punishments set below. As active league participants, Michael Lash, Michael Tozzi, Spencer Wien, Preston Brickner, Nate Schechter, Jesse Circelli, Kyle Kerner, Kyle Twarek, Andrew McKay, Connor Keeley, Zak Garrett and Connor Viland, we must abide by the rules, propositions, payments, and punishments set below that we've agreed upon.

Section 1 - Payment

- I. Standard payment for the league is a $150 entry fee. First place gets $800, Second place gets $525, Third place gets their $150 back.
- II. $25 is to be paid out to the weekly high scorer. This is to be paid on Tuesdays weekly for 13 weeks of the regular fantasy season.
- III. Payment is due the day before the draft starts [or another agreed upon date if the majority disagrees with this due date]. By the time you read or skim this document over, you should have an exceptional amount of time to conjure up that $150. We're all over 30, fully grown men with full or part time jobs who can find $150. Take it out of your girl's purse, steal it from your parents or siblings, if you want to play in this league, this is the price you pay by the due deadline.
- IV. Failure to Pay by or on the due date will produce a couple shitty results:
 - A. Keeley, failure to pay by week 4, you will be paying out each member of the league $10 dollars.
 - B. KEELEY, failure to pay by week 6, you will be joining the loser of the regular season in whatever punishment we have agreed for that person to do

Section 2 - Voting on Proposed Changes

- I. It is a hard thing to get 12 different people to communicate effectively in a short period of time. I, like I am sure others, are active in viewing the group chat and participating when I am free to but also keep that on mute because it is a lot during the day. That said, when it comes to proposing votes pre and mid season we will pass or veto propositions by having a majority vote.
 - A. In most cases for you mathematicians out there, that's having one side outvote the other by one vote. If we have over 7 voters and it ends up even, we will take it to the point where we end up with one side favoring the other. If we end up in a dead even, 6-6 split, fate will be decided by a coin flip.

- II. If you have an idea you want to share that requires voting, please get it in before the season starts. Ideally 2 weeks before draft day so we have time to assess, but even more ideally, do it in the beginning of August. No one wants to be schemey and deal with that shit mid season when people are either down or up in record. If you care that much, review the current rules, settings, and scoring guidelines laid out in Sleeper before the season and come correct with something to say.
- III. Should there be a case where we need a mid-season vote on something, we'll handle it accordingly by following the above guidelines.
- IV. How do we vote you might ask? Vote poll in iMessage. Your proposition will last for 24 hours and by that time we will come to a decision on what to do and implement or reject accordingly. Try and make it yes or no, we don't need 6 options in trying to determine something.
- V. Voting for punishment - I know we are a creative batch of gentlemen, and when it comes to watching each other suffer, the next idea is always worse than its predecessor. That said, we will cast all punishments to a voting poll, and whichever idea out of the many proposed has the most votes, that's what we're doing.

Section 3 - Draft Day

- I. This is a section where we could perhaps use a vote but this should be pretty solid. Draft Day, come correct. To avoid any last minute lack of communications, we will have the determination of draft order 1 week before draft day.
 - A. How will we do this, you might be thinking? We will have a vote with the system noted in Section 2 on how we will proceed. I very much enjoyed a ChaGPT prompt this year, although I had so much fun I shot myself in the foot. I am open to other ideas, just share them.
- II. Each player will get 2 minutes to make a pick. Seems long to be honest, so if you want to make it shorter guess what we'll do? Vote motherfucker.
- III. Try to stick around the whole time and if you can't physically make it, sure would be nice if you hopped on a Zoom so we can at least all be present together because this shit is far too fun to do, and what's the point of playing Fantasy aside from victory?
Camaraderie.
- IV. Auto-draft blunders - Something we experienced in year 1 of Sleeper but not this past year.
 - A. If you do this by accident, assuming we are all together or live on Zoom drafting together, you need to immediately say something because early on there is a decent chance someone wanted who you accidentally drafted. So stay vigilant. Commish will need to pause the draft.
- V. Draft Day will need to be unanimously decided! As previously mentioned - very hard to align 12 peoples calendars so we can all be present for it. That day is a vote.

Official 2025 Draft Date: Wednesday August 27th 8PM - Weenosk

Section 4 - Punishment

- I. The most anticipated section of this doctrine I suspect. This has to be determined by the time the Week 1 games start. Anyone with ideas, throw it to the vote system. I imagine it would be the easiest thing we can all agree on because as much as we all love and value each other, we all want to see one person in here suffer by not only our, but their agreement to the punishment. It's all fun and games until it happens to you.
- II. The Punished is last place of the regular season

- III. Punishment due date, I think we can all agree unless there's someone who wants to be obnoxiously difficult must be done prior to the following year's Draft Day. So in this case Andy needs to squat in a McDonalds before we draft for 2025. Read the next bullet below very carefully, future loser.
- A. Failure to perform the punishment between the end of the season we are in, and the upcoming season, you will be performing your punishment and also participating in that upcoming seasons punishment.
 - B. [We can vote on this too, but an alternative is that you would either do the punishment or pay out the rest of the league $62.50 per person, $687 on top of your league admittance fee.] I hope you can smell the irony here, and feel how badly the group wants last place to commit to punishment.
 - C. What you should really do, last place loser, is just sack up and do the damn thing. You really wanna pay 5 and a half times the league fee? You know damn well what you signed up for, we all do.
 - D. But Lash, that's so much money, are you kidding me, you can't be serious? I, and we, are very much serious, stupid. Don't do the crime if you can't do the time. You want to pay all that money out, go for it. Although being a good sport is far cooler, and we definitely won't think you're pussy.

Official 2025 Punishment: TBD

Section 5 - Trades

- I. I think what we did this year was fine. Week 11 deadline. I do believe that having a review from the commissioner is acceptable, and if we don't like that I think we just have to be generally ethical with it. No loaded, collusion filled trades, you're a huge pussy if you're in favor of that.
- II. We can have a vote on this because it is actually important in some cases:
 - A. Do we want trades to be effective immediately?
 - B. Or do we want them to process Tuesday morning after the current week?

Section 6 - Miscellaneous

- I. This section is kind of a mixed bag of things we can add to if we really want, so if you have something you want to add just let me know and I being the author of this doctrine, and Connor Viland being league commissioner will determine its worthiness.

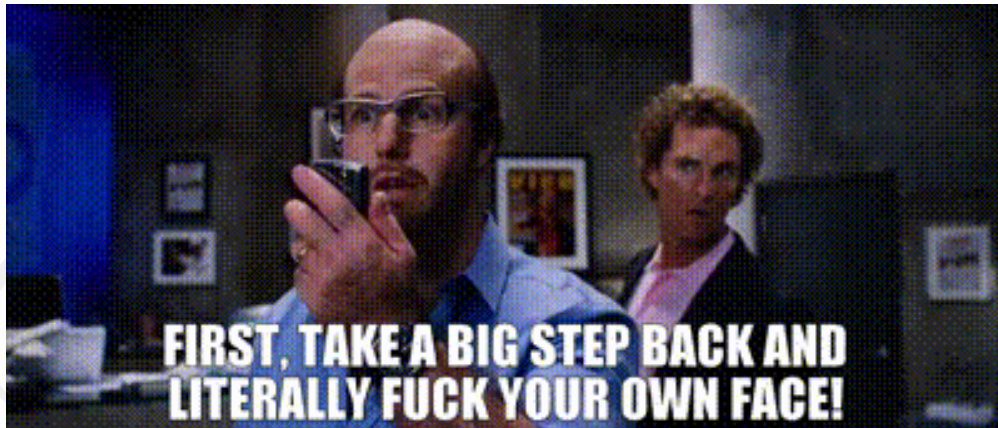

"Wait, Lash and Connor are making these determinations? Smells like collusion, scheming and two people working together to tear down the greater good!" - No, shit head, we're the only two people who were willing to do anything for the betterment of the league. "That's not true, I had ideas about improvement" - Well you didn't say or do anything about it til now, and now we have this document..

- A. Weekly Report: There are 12 people in this league. 12 MOSTLY fully functioning brains with a spark for creativity. I think that we should have each person write a report for the week, and after week 12 we just cycle back through. You can make it as matter of factly as you want if your creative juices aren't flowing, or as funny as you want if they are but you have to give the group something. If you need help spelling words or crafting sentences with correct grammar - reach out to one of your boys, we're here to help.
- B. Collusion: Don't do it. This is an every man for himself sport we're playing for money. This isn't Catan where we try to fuck who is in the lead when the middle to end of the pack is down bad, Jesse. You want to have more than 2 QB's on your team, guess what in the fuck we're going to do? (See Diddy image in Section 2)

Closing Statement

- I. Don't be a fucking nerd and try to find a loophole or way around in any of the above topics, bullets, and comments. There really aren't even many rules, it's outlining how things should/could play out if people have opinions of change. Just play the damn game, eat your punishment (pun intended), pay your fucking dues, and we can all walk away happy competitors. I made this during work hours because I had time and fresh ideas that would have otherwise been lost to the abyss that is my brain.
- II. You wanted change, here are some proposed changes and ideas. No more complaining.
- III. Will there be shit we come across at some point that isn't mentioned in this document? I'd be shocked if I covered everything 12 people were thinking.
- IV. Was this totally necessary? I doubt it was even 30% necessary but I had time, thoughts, and people are polluting the group chat with more bitching than banter and yes those are different. If you need to understand the difference between bitching and banter, please do a quick google search.
- V. I'll do my best to make a league logo because I think that'd be cool but TBD. Hope you enjoyed the read.
- VI. Consider this something fun to read and reference, and if you don't like the fact that I put it together without anyone's knowledge but Connors at the time, see below:

VII. I'd like to have rules and topics of voting figured out by mid August so it can be concrete when we start.

VIII. Got questions? Control F it brother.

For everyone's commitment, sign your life away below. Save it as a PDF and send it back so we can track your accountability and jam any protests you have mid season down your throat.

(DocuSign wasn't working so just type it out in a fun silly font, hoe)

ALSO WHEN YOU SIGN - AFTER YOUR SIGNATURE PLEASE ADD YOUR FATHERS PROFESSION.

Signature + Fathers Profession:

Date: